

MCI to begin providing help to laid-off workers

BY DENA BISNETTE

Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant workers who will be laid off as the plant goes into mothballs may be able to get some job hunting assistance as early as Wednesday.

The plant, which is operated by Mason Chamberlain Inc., has already issued its first set of lay-off notices in compliance with the Warren Act, which mandates that prior notification of impending lay-offs be given to the unions at such facilities. MCI Administrative Services Manager Bernie L. Anderson stated Friday.

In addition, the first group of letters to individual employees has gone out and others are scheduled to go out April 23 and April 27, he told a task force organized at a meeting last week.

The task force includes the MCI out-placement director, Joseph Fairchild, Anderson, Curtis Bartlett and Tad Black, representing the two unions at the plant; and members of various service organizations and the Governor's Rapid Response Team.

Some of those who can offer services plan to set up programs at the plant as soon as possible.

Jane Black, who serves as the Rapid Response Team coordinator as well as representing the Mississippi Job Development and Training Center, is making arrangements with MCI to provide an orientation program for all plant employees.

The program will deal with what job placement, training and educational programs are available for people who are being laid off.

Anderson said the plant's training facility can be used as a place to present the program, but said it must be done at a time when workers will not have to leave their jobs in order to attend.

He said he does not want the program to interfere with production schedules because the plant is still trying to complete some of its remaining contracts.

As a result, more than one program will be scheduled so that all employees can attend. The time of the programs are expected to be confirmed and posted for employees on Monday.

Also speaking at the meeting was John Bonner of Gulf Coast Business Services, who explained that several job training and retraining programs are available under the Job Training Partnership Act but employees must have been laid off in order to be eligible.

Pearl River Community College and Gulf Coast Junior College also have several grants for programs ranging from eight-week vocational training to two-year associates degree or technical certifications which are available in addition to unemployment benefits supplied by the Mississippi Employment Service, which was also represented at the meeting and described some of its programs.

According to Fairchild, the out-placement center in the MCI training building should be functioning soon and will provide spaces for seven counselors from the junior colleges, employment service, JTPA and Mississippi Job Development and Training.

In addition, the center will accept applications and resumes, assist laid-off workers in contacting potential employers, make referrals to agencies which can help with specific problems and keep track of who has been placed in jobs.

Task force members told Anderson it will be important to make arrangements for people who worked for MCI to be able to use the center after they have been laid off.

Fairchild said arrangements are being made and said he believed that most of those who would continue using the center would be local residents.

Some discussion also occurred regarding a telephone bank laid-off workers can use to set up interviews with potential employers. Fairchild said none exists so far, but Bonner said JTPA may be able to provide funding for such a project.

Jane Black and Geraldine Yates, director of the Mississippi Service Delivery Area, also told the group that arrangements are being made with Louisiana so that some assistance can be provided for laid-off workers who live in that state.

About 400 employees are expected to be affected by the first wave of lay-offs, Anderson stated.

PIER VANDALS SOUGHT—Bay St. Louis authorities are still searching for the person or persons who damaged the pier at Washington Street early Friday morning. Chuck James, one of the officers sent to the scene when the damage was discovered and reported, stated that the vandals used a vehicle to pull away part of the pier's structure. (Echo staff photo by Ed Crickmer)

Man charged in kidnap, armed robbery incident

BY DENA BISNETTE

An undercover operation expected to result in an arrest on narcotics charges has instead resulted in an arrest for armed robbery and kidnapping.

Andre Maguel Daniels, 21, of 406 Sycamore Street, Bay St. Louis, was arrested at about 10:30 p.m. Friday, Hancock County Metropolitan Narcotics Task Force Director Glen Strong stated. Daniels was still jailed Saturday on $200,000 bond.

Strong said a female undercover operative had parked her vehicle in the vicinity of "The Corner," the intersection of Sycamore and St. Francis streets, and was attempting to purchase crack cocaine from Daniels when the robbery and kidnapping allegedly occurred. Strong said he was locked inside the trunk of the vehicle recording the conversation between Daniels and the undercover buyer.

"The suspect entered the vehicle with the undercover person and after a few moments of her attempting to buy crack cocaine, he pulled a knife," the task force director said.

"He demanded that she give him the $50 and she gave it to him," he added, referring to the money she had been using to try to buy crack cocaine.

"After ordering her to move to the passenger side of the car, the suspect took control of the vehicle and drove it to an abandoned house on Labat Street, where he parked the vehicle and was attempting to rape her when agents arrived on the scene."

Strong explained that two task force agents, Gus Anne Jr. and Jimmy Varnell, had been monitoring the attempted buy through a transmitter the woman was wearing.

According to Strong, the two agents were able to determine where the vehicle was and arrived in time to stop the attempt.

The undercover operative was uninjured except for a scratch across her neck which had been made by the knife.

Her assailant fled on foot and was apprehended about a half an hour later on the corner in front of the MCM Club.

Monitoring to begin

Hancock County law enforcement and Civil Defense dispatchers are now monitoring Channel 16 VHF radio for emergency emergencies.

Civil Defense will monitor the channel during the day and the sheriff's department will monitor after 5 p.m. and on weekends.

Former Waveland man presumed drowned

St. Tammany Parish authorities were still searching Friday for a former Waveland resident who was presumed to have drowned after leaping into the West Pearl River.

A sheriff's department spokesman said there has been no sign of William Wright, who stopped his car in the middle of the US-90 bridge March 4 and jumped over the rail.

Teens removed from home; ordered to attend school

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Three teenage truants have been removed from their home and placed in the custody of an out-of-state relative following action by the Hancock County

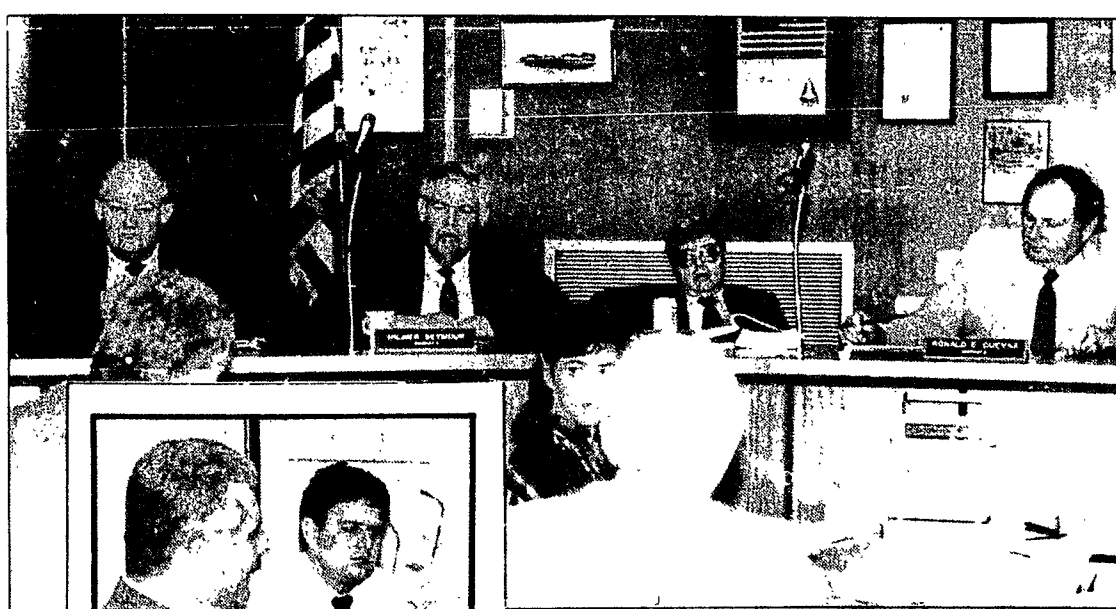

Youth Court Wednesday.

The siblings, ages 16, 15 and 13, were fined $500 each for non-compliance with the Youth Court's order that they attend school. Their mother, Janice McNeese, 37, of Bay St. Louis was also fined $500.

McNeese will also face Justice Court Judge Lee Klein, following charges filed against her by School Attendance Officer Yvonne Landry. It was the first Hancock County case in which an adult was arrested for refusing to comply with Mississippi's compulsory education law.

The children have been directed by the court to attend school in the state in which they reside.

Ammo Update

Representative Gene Taylor's staff members Wayne Weidie and Beau Gex and Privatization Task Force member Carroll Gordon updated the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Thursday on Taylor's efforts to keep the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant at John C. Stennis Space Center operating. Gordon commented on the flexibility of the plant and the many options it could offer for use in the private sector. Board averts hot times at Hancock Courthouse

BY JANET MCQUEEN

A chiller unit is on the way to repair the Hancock County Courthouse's air-conditioning system—hopefully before temperatures heat up.

The Board of Supervisors accepted the $19,462 bid of Schnyder General Corporation-Kirkwood Company on Thursday for purchase of the water-cooled unit to replace the existing one which was damaged during a freeze in December.

They authorized the advertising for bids on the mechanical and electrical installation of the replacement unit.

Also on Thursday, County Maintenance Supervisor Sam Cuevas reported the need for 370 signs for county roads, with some of that number replacing vandalized signs and others correcting misnamed roads.

He is investigating the use of tamperproof brackets on the new signs to cut down on theft and vandalism.

In other board action: —David Brown was hired as a part-time laborer at the landfill convenience center.

—Bonds were approved for Hancock County Sheriff's Department employees Deputy Michael L. Ladner and Auxiliary Jerry Soroe.

—An informal invitation was extended by Hancock County Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph for the Board to view the site of the Vo-Tech Center and school building.

The next regular board meeting is scheduled for 9 a.m. Thursday in the upstairs boardroom of the Hancock County Courthouse.

Reflections

On Life
By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

Ream out the trash

"You're a stinker!" or its equivalent has been hung on nearly all of us at one time or another. Yet, few of us ever look upon ourselves as loaded with trash, and we would hardly dare compare our personal condition to that of a dumpster in dire need of being cleaned out.

Although we are aware of the physical trash which we carry in our bodies when we neglected health and hygiene, we easily overlook our emotional and spiritual trash.

Our spiritual, emotional and mental trash far outweighs our physical trash, and it is immeasurably more messy, more repulsive and more destructive. Our physical trash is the unwellcome wages of our abuse of food, drink, rest and other activities. Our spiritual trash is likewise the result of those same abuses, since they are immoral, and of all our other selfish vices.

Our main problem here is that we do not see these things as trash, even though they are trash of the worst kind. We are slowly rotting together with our spiritual trash.

For our own good and that of everybody around us, we have to resolve to ream all this decomposing trash out of our lives.

Before we can be whole, healed persons, there are numerous things, little and big, which we must ream out of our systems. Many of them are obvious and, therefore, easy to attack, but some of them are hidden, devious and difficult to uncover and attack.

For instance, what about our innermost, secret attitudes and negative or even destructive thoughts? Are these attitudes and thoughts compatible with what we claim to be as Christians? And what about the way we make those attitudes and thoughts materialize into words and actions?

Beyond a doubt, you have agreed thus far, and maybe you think you are already succeeding in reaming out your trash. Then, how do you know that you are succeeding? Which standards and criteria are you using to validate your success?

Why don't we use Jesus and Paul for starters as criteria? According to Jesus, we treat him the same way we treat even the least of our sisters or brothers (Matthew 25: 39).

Paul follows suit in bidding us to "rejoice with those who rejoice, weep with those who weep" (Romans 12:15).

In the light of these criteria, are you usually waiting for someone or everyone to make a mistake? Is it your secret desire that others fail in their undertakings? If so, it must dawn on you soon that there is no time for ill-wishing in our lives.

Ream out the trash in your life; in this instance, the conscious or subconscious ill-wishing. But how will you know that you are in fact following the criteria of Jesus and Paul?

Perhaps the simplest measure is to test your memory over and over again, always asking the same question: Do I feel good when I hear bad news about anyone? Is it a joy or any comfort to me to know that someone has suffered a reversal, a misfortune, an injury, a failure or even bereavement?

To rejoice at or feel comfort over an evil which befalls someone is to curse that person

ON THE BIBLE

By Minister
Charlie Buckley

What are we teaching our children today?

One day George, a successful businessman, chose to take the day off from work and spend it with his young son, Steve. They decided to go to the park and then to a movie.

While playing in the park, Steve noticed several people that aroused his curiosity and he asked his father about them:

Daddy, why is that man sleeping on the park bench? Why does he sleep here and not at home? His dad replied, "Son, he has no home, he's just a bum!"

Steve saw another man wearing ragged clothes and worn-out shoes. He asked his father, "Dad, why does that man wear those worn-out clothes and shoes?" George replied, "Son, he doesn't work and probably doesn't have any better. He's just a bum!"

Steve saw yet another man digging in a garbage can looking for something to eat. He asked George, "Daddy, why is that man eating out of that garbage can? Why doesn't he go to the store and buy some food?" Again George replied, "Son, he's just a bum!"

Quickly, George grabbed little Steve's hand and said, "Come on Steve, this is no place for you to be in now that these bums have taken over everything. Let's go get something to eat before we go to the movie and then home."

George, because he had hardened his heart against the "bums," never saw the tears of compassion running down little Steve's cheeks.

There are things that we need to consider each day of our life on this earth and one of them is, "What are we teaching our children?" With this in mind, I would like to share a few Scriptures with you for your consideration:

Matthew 25:40: "And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these my brethren, even these least, ye did it unto me."

Matthew 25:45-46: "Then shall he answer them saying, Verily I say unto me, inasmuch as ye did it not unto one of these least, ye did it not unto me. And these shall go away into eternal punishment: but the righteous into eternal life."

I John 3:13-18: "Marvel not, brethren, if the world hateth you. We know that we have passed out of death into life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not abideth in death. Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer: and ye know that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him. Hereby know we love, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren. But whoso hath the world's goods, and beholdeth his brother in need, and shutteth up his compassion from him, how doth the love of God abide in him? My little children, let us not love in word, neither with the tongue; but in deed and truth."

Ephesians 6:1-4: "Children, obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right. Honor thy father and mother (which is the first commandment with promise), that it may be well with thee, and thou mayest live long on the earth. And ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but nurture them in the chastening and admonition of the Lord."

Matthew 18:6: "But whosoever shall cause one of these little ones that believe on me to stumble, it is profitable for him that a great millstone should be hanged about his neck, and that he should be sunk in the depth of the sea."

We need to spend more time and effort in teaching our children the "brotherly love" that is taught in God's word, for the simple reason that: "Today's children are tomorrow's leaders." The way we teach our children to treat others today, will be the way we will be treated tomorrow.

Dad, Mom, what greater torment could we have than to hear Jesus speak those words unto us, "I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity." (Matt. 7:21-23). Could it be when these words are spoken to our children also, because of our failure to teach them what it means to "love one another?" Could it be when our children look us in the eyes in the judgement, and with tears running down their cheeks, ask us, "Why didn't you teach me more about Jesus and his Love?" Are we ready to receive the fruits of our teachings? (Galatians 6:6-10).

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Have you noticed how beautiful the azaleas are about the area?

I never thought we would even have any flowers, much less have them as beautiful as they are.

Driving about the area, it is hard really to say where the most beautiful stands of azaleas are, as there are so many of them.

Mixed among the many azaleas are the wisteria vines bursting into bloom. I always like the wisterias which have been trimmed into a tree.

Wisteria really likes growing among the many pine and oak trees in the area.

I am hoping the azaleas and wisteria flowers will still be around for the annual Spring Pilgrimage later this month.

I have also noticed several plots of daffodils in bloom about town, including the ones planted by Jane in our yard.

Another thing I have also noted doing very well in our yard are weeds and it looks like we have an extra supply this year.

It seems the very wet conditions have really helped the weeds.

It won't be long before many of us will have to get the mowers out and start doing some trimming.

The red potatoes we planted back in February all appear to be doing very well. I guess we are in luck that they did not rot because of the excessive rains.

I enjoy a vegetable garden and it goes back to my childhood days, as we always had something growing.

I wish I could plant more this year, but will have to curtail those activities for this season.

I just had my stitches removed last week from my last surgery, and I have to be careful as to what I do.

Of course, along with my doctor, I have Jane reminding me of dos and don'ts.

The slowing down over the past three weeks has been a "killer" for me, as I am used to being constantly on the move.

While I was recovering at home, I just got tired of doing nothing, as it didn't take long for television to lose its appeal for me. I enjoy some television programs, yet I know there are some folks who watch TV all day long.

By the way, it is good to be back at the office, even if it is on a limited basis.

I do want to thank you for the prayers, kindnesses and concerns about my well being.

A group I would like to compliment is the staff of The Sea Coast Echo, as they kept things rolling while I was out.

They really had to double up, as there were several other unexpecteds to go along with my being out.

Thanks for a job well done.

Isn't it a shame to read about the many pounds of redfish which have been recently dumped in county.

Redfish need time to make a comeback, and it is illegal for commercial fishermen to buy or resell redfish in or out of the state of Mississippi.

Among the reasons for restrictions being placed on redfish is the fact so many have been wasted over the years.

Large netting operations would catch more than the boats could hold and the rest were thrown overboard to rot.

Now there is a shortage of redfish and Department of Fish and Wildlife Conservation officials are trying to give the fish a chance to regroup.

I have caught my share of redfish over the years and always enjoyed the thrill of catching them. They are very popular among local fishermen.

I hope they catch the culprit or culprits who have been wasting redfish.

This is just a reminder of the annual St. Patrick's Day parade in Waveland next Saturday. The event is sponsored by The Waveland Civic Association.

The untold story of successful Mississippians

Glory! The sergeant major of the 54th Regiment in the movie "Glory" was played by Greenwood native Morgan Freeman. He also has been nominated for the Academy Award for Best Actor for his role in the movie "Driving Miss Daisy."

The Commissioner of the Social Security Administration visited Mississippi recently. She is Gwendolyn King of Okolona, appointed late last year to that most important position by President Bush.

Frances McMurtry Norris of Jackson, Special Assistant to the President for Legislative Affairs, will assume her new duties this week. Formerly she was Director of the Office of Congressional Affairs for Drug Czar Bill Bennett.

The Senate Judiciary Committee held hearings last week on the nomination of Rhesa Barksdale to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals. He is a decorated veteran, outstanding attorney, and a member of one of Mississippi's most famous families.

Barbara Spyridon Pope

recently began her work as Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Manpower and Reserve Affairs. She is the first woman in history to serve in that position. Her mother in Pascagoula is duly proud.

And Gil Carmichael of Meridian runs the railroads. After years of seeking the opportunity to serve the people in public office, he got his opportunity as head of the Federal Railroad Administration.

There literally are hundreds more stories like these that could be told -- including sports heroes like Walter Peyton, Archie Manning, Jerry Rice, and Will Clark.

Some stories would be of lesser import; some would tell of much greater ability or responsibility. But the point is that Mississippians do exceedingly well in many fields of pursuit.

Regardless of humble origins, sex, or race, many Mississippians set magnificent examples. Instead of the negatives too often ascribed to our state and its people, more of the success stories should be told.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

Facing critical issues

We are just three months into the 1990s, and already the critical issues of the decade are coming clearly into focus.

Would anyone disagree that the demise of communism and the reunification of Europe will be among the principal issues on the international scene?

Would anyone disagree that the rebuilding of the state's infrastructure -- from schools to roads and bridges -- could be the critical issue of the 1990s in Mississippi?

And, who would disagree that education, hazardous waste control, and finance would be among the major issues of state government for the next 10 years?

The point is this: The Mississippi Economic Council is right on target with its plans for the Council's 1990 Annual Membership Meeting to be held Thursday, April 12, in Jackson. The program lineup:

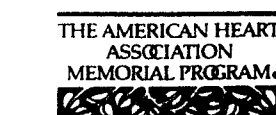

... West German Parliament leader Peter Petersen on the reunification of Germany and Europe.

... A special panel on the rebuilding of Mississippi, with a look at critical city and county needs.

... A team of legislative and Executive Branch leaders to review the 1990 legislative session, with emphasis on finance and the legislative solution to the hazardous waste problem.

Mississippians interested in the direction in which the world and the state are moving will want to be a part of this statewide meeting.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Increased sales tax will burden Mississippi's poor

It's strange that in the nation's poorest state, whenever the Legislature wants to tap taxpayers' pocketbooks for more revenue it almost invariably reaches out for the sales tax, the most regressive of tax sources.

Once again, as a result of last week's jumped-up Senate approval of a 1-cent hike in the 6-cent sales tax, an increase in the general sales levy is very much in play at the state Capitol.

And once again, an education reform program is the vehicle on which a sales tax increase is riding, even though only 37 percent of the $160 million to be derived from the proposed hike would be dedicated to fund Gov. Ray Mabus' BEST school reforms.

The last time the sales tax was raised, from 5 to 5 1/2 percent in 1982 and then to 6 percent in 1984, legislators attributed it to funding public kindergartens and other programs in the 1982 Education Reform Act. In reality, more than half of the sales tax hike was used to fund other state government expenses.

This time, the proposed 7 cent sales tax rate was attached to the Senate's version of the BEST education reform bill by a floor amendment that suddenly was hatched up by a group of senators who had previously helped kill Mabus' lottery bill.

Mabus had proposed legalization of a state lottery -- which is now barred by the 1890 Constitution -- as a source of $180 million in new revenue (by his estimates) toward funding his three-year $500 million education reform package that he calls "Mississippi's BEST."

Mabus has insisted that the education reforms can be paid for by the lottery and normal revenue growth without raising taxes, a position most lawmakers disagree with. Mabus has broadly intimated that we would veto any tax hikes.

Lawmakers have felt that Mabus has put them in an impossible situation -- that they will get the blame if the education reforms fail.

Obviously a number of senators seized on the sales tax amendment as an opportunity to turn the tables on Mabus and make him swallow a sales tax increase in order to get his education reforms.

But it was significant that immediately before the sales tax amendment was brought forth, the Senate turned down another amendment that would have placed a 10 percent surcharge on corporate and individual income taxes and dedicated all the revenues to the education package.

Some legislative sources believed that the income tax surcharge may have been acceptable to Mabus since it could be regarded as a revenue "enhancement" rather than a tax increase.

But the 1-cent sales tax hike amendment was cleverly crafted to reach out and bring in support from lawmakers who have been looking for ways to get help to the financially strapped cities and counties.

Under the amendment, 48 percent of the revenues from the 1 cent sales tax hike, about $77 million, would be shared by the cities and counties. Half of the money going to the cities and counties would be credited as ad valorem tax receipts, making possible some relief from soaring car tags prices.

While the lobbyists for the municipalities and counties were caught by surprise by the sudden appearance of the sales tax amendment, they were quick to react and senators began to get calls from mayors and county supervisors even while the amendment was being debated on the floor of the Senate.

The House has so far discarded any kind of general tax increase as a funding instrument for the education reform program and proposed taxes on video poker slot machines and bingo, which have already been turned down by the Senate.

Now, with momentum from cities and counties behind the sales tax rider attached to the education bill by the Senate, plus the desire of many House members to put Mabus on the spot, the sales tax hike could take wings and fly through the Legislature.

The pity is the sales tax is the most oppressive form of taxes on low income people, and Mississippi has an abundance of poor people. Besides, Mississippi taxes food at the full sales tax rate while many states do not.

With their state sales tax rate at 6 percent, Mississippians were already paying more state sales taxes per $1000 income than citizens of any state in the nation.

If it goes to 7 percent, the imbalance of sales tax in relation to income will only get worse.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Senator Thad Cochran

Farmers' agriculture needs will be considered by Congress

Senator Thad Cochran assured farmers that agriculture's needs will be carefully considered as Congress works on the 1991 budget and the new farm bill.

"We need a balanced farm program and a balanced approach," the Senator commented to Agriculture Secretary Clayton Yeutter as the Senate Agriculture Committee conducted hearings on the administration's farm proposals.

"I think we have many farmers who realize that they're better off not depending on the government solely for their income, but to try to derive income from the marketplace through aggressive marketing and promotion activities."

"That's why we passed the checkoff bill last year in this committee, to give farmers an opportunity to use their funds in a way that would be actually reviewed and managed in some respects by the Department of Agriculture to expand their markets and develop greater income in the sale of their products."

Cochran predicted the Senate committee would pass a 1990 farm bill addressing the needs of the nation's agricultural economy.

"It is important to have farm programs in some of our commodity production activity, because they help stabilize the market, give us a predictable level of supply, help even out the boom and bust cycles we see as a result of natural disasters and also marketing disasters. Those are just as severe for farmers as other kinds of disasters."

The senator concluded by saying, "There is a need for farm programs because they are helpful as marketing tools."

Neat people are born, not made

Help! I've got a houseguest! People who know me expect me to say that the houseguest is actually a termite I found by the doorframe or a bird that's nested in my attic or a flea I found in my carpet. This time it's a real houseguest—a friend who has come to visit.

I don't mind having company, but preparations for company scare the daylight out of me. It means I have to clean my house—not just make it presentable, but really clean it.

I wasn't born one of those neat people. You know some. Their houses are orderly, spotless and look like nobody lives there.

Usually, my husband Joe and

I keep the house liveable. That means no dirt except in the flowerpots, a little dust scattered around and a lot of clutter.

But when visitors are coming and are going to stay overnight, the house has to look better than usual.

I used to clean in self-defense before my mother's visits. Mom is really nice about clutter and dust and says she doesn't expect a working girl/student to have time to clean.

But, the minute I finally graduate from school, I'll bet she's going to expect a clean house. Besides, she likes to help out when she's visiting and it takes me forever to find anything she puts away.

Everyone has his own place for certain things but her idea of where things go doesn't necessarily match mine—I mean, we are talking about a lady who kept a fruit bowl on the kitchen counter for years but never put fruit in it because it was full of keys, memo pads, magnets that wouldn't stay on the fridge door and other tiny household objects.

I also noticed that the moment Joe and I said "I do," some of my friends expected a sudden change in my cleaning habits.

They're the same girls who used to think it was so funny to see me throwing clothing everywhere when they arrived 10 minutes early to pick me up for the theatre; they liked to listen to me complain that I had just gotten home myself and had only 10 minutes to change.

I could change in 10 minutes, but I left a trail. As long as everything fell where the dog couldn't reach it, it stayed there until laundry day.

Anybody who thinks a person is going to change her house-keeping habits from dormitory slob to June Cleaver just because she has a wedding band on her finger probably will tell you the Tooth Fairy is alive and well.

I know Mom and Joe's mother and everyone else's mother tried hard to get the message "Cleanliness Is Next To Godliness" across to their kids. Their kids, if they were anything like I was, replied something like, "Sure, Mom," and never really heard what she was saying.

I am convinced that tidy people are born that way.

We've got a couple of them in the office. One just hates clutter; the other one likes to move the furniture around. I should invite these people to my house.

This condition can usually be diagnosed the first time these people write a term paper. They use the whole table to work on it but all their research materials are in neat stacks and are organized.

Somebody who wasn't born to be neat uses the whole table, but the research materials are scattered all over it and generally overflow onto nearby chairs and parts of the floor.

If they're not born cleaners and they aren't trained by that stage, Mom, don't worry.

When they grow up, just become a frequent houseguest. That way they'll have to clean up all the clutter.

Help! Company's here and now I have to figure out how to keep the place clean!

Diamondhead AARP 4228

By Karl Stuart

The Diamondhead AARP chapter's March meeting featured a program covering taxes and the community's new recycling program.

Betty Stone, a tax practitioner and Diamondhead resident, listed tax changes to be encountered now and in the near future. She offered some helpful phone numbers: for State Tax help in Jackson, call 965-4800 and for local IRS help, the new number is 831-3306.

The Tax Aide Program, sponsored by AARP, will be available through April 12 at Bay St. Louis Library on Thursdays 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. and Saturdays 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. and at the West wing of the Diamondhead Community Center on Thursdays 1:30 p.m. - 4:30 p.m.

Margaret Grace, also of Diamondhead, explained the new recycling program scheduled to begin in May. She is a member of the group that has been instrumental in making Diamondhead the first on the coast to initiate a community waste recycling program.

Proceeds from the program, which will be divided with Gulf Coast Waste and Disposal, will be used to help cover costs of Fire Department needs.

The chapter's monthly meetings afford its members, now totaling 207, the opportunity to not only stay informed on local and national issues, but also to socialize with friends and meet new neighbors over refreshments after the meetings.

The March 'fun-trip' was a night at the theater in New Orleans.

These excursions, subject to space, are open to friends of members. Guests are always welcome at the chapter meetings which are held on the first Tuesday of each month. For the April 3 meeting, Paul Montjoy, Diamondhead's general manager, will speak on the future of Diamondhead.

Mrs. Kay Chapman announced having information on a Mississippi State sponsored seminar program entitled "Project Learning Tree" for anyone interested in teaching children up to the 12th grade level the fundamentals of environment and conservation projects.

This is a free seminar which will be conducted at the Herbert Wilson Recreation Center in Gulfport. Anyone interested should call the Conservation Department in Gulfport.

The nominating committee chairman announced the new slate of officers for the coming year to be voted on at the April 5 meeting. It was announced that the 61st annual Convention of Garden Clubs will be held in Columbus on April 18 and 19.

Mrs. Nancy Williamson, secretary of the Green Thumb Garden Club gave a very interesting and informative talk on "Butterflies in your Garden" explaining the differences between butterflies and moths.

The body of the butterfly is more slender than the moth's; moths will light on anything and rest with their wings open whereas butterflies need a plant, flower or fruit to light on the rest with their wings together.

The butterfly lays its eggs on the host plant and then dies. If a butterfly lays its eggs on the host plant and then dies. If a butterfly lays 200 eggs, only about 20 will turn into butterflies. The lifetime of most butterflies is only 4 to 6 weeks although some species do live longer.

Mrs. Williamson also pointed out that the population is decreasing because of the use of pesticides in our gardens. She suggested that we reduce their use to protect the butterflies since these lovely creatures are useful in our gardens for the pollination of flowers and are also a source of food for the birds.

She mentioned that if anyone was interested, there were two butterfly gardens that she was familiar with -- one at Callaway Gardens and one in Florida.

Mrs. Don Costa and Mrs. Peggy Carter served as hostesses at the tea following the meeting.

Daughters of the British Empire

There will be a meeting of the Mississippi Chapter of the "Daughters of the British Empire" on Thursday, March 15, at the "Church of the Redeemer" in Biloxi at 7 p.m. There will be a covered dish supper at this event.

The Coast Episcopal High School Raider Basketball Team spent the past week competing in the Small High School National Basketball Tournament in Dayton, Tenn., where 16 teams from across the nation were represented.

Jones

On Wednesday, the Raiders were defeated by number one seed Belhaven of Louisville, Ky., which dropped them into the losers' bracket.

In the first game, freshman Tyrone Jones and junior Bruce Hull each scored 14 points, senior Janie White and sophomore Chris Painter each six, freshman Nathan Guice four, and sophomore Dave Hagan and junior Paul Bernadas each scored two.

Playing their second game on Thursday, the Raiders were defeated by number six ranked Central Michigan in overtime, 71-68.

The Raiders, who were losing by 21 points at the half, rallied after Jones sank a three-pointer while falling out of bounds at the end of the third quarter.

Scoring in double figures for Coast Episcopal were Hull, 22; Jones, 18; and Painter, 14. For Central Michigan, Ted Bonner scored 41 points and Fred Shelton, 20. Earning additional points for the Raiders were White, six; Hagan, four, and Guice and senior Hutson Lambert, two each.

In the third game, played Friday morning at 7:30 a.m., the CEHS Raiders defeated the Class 1A State Champions from Midland, Texas, 66-55.

Tyrone Jones set a new game record, shooting nine three-pointers, and set the record for the most three-pointers by a single player in the tournament's 10-year history with 16.

Against Midland, Jones scored 32 points and Hull scored 10. Others scoring were Painter, nine; Hagan, seven; Guice, six; white, two and Lambert, one.

Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dedeaux of Pass Christian, was selected to the Small High School All-American Team at the tournament. Of the five players honored, four were seniors and Jones was the only freshman.

The Raiders finished the year with a 20-17 record and were ranked seventh out of the 16 teams in the tournament. The Raiders are coached by Jack Hutchison.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

Along with the balmy Spring weather we're enjoying as I write this, comes a profusion of fresher than fresh Springtime vegetables, temptingly arranged and at temptingly attractive prices in our area supermarkets.

New crop green beans are offered at special savings at National, and new crop pole beans at Jitney Jungle, for example. And, National offers fresh mushrooms at a super-special price.

I like to combine fresh greens beans or pole beans with the smallest of new potatoes, such as Winn-Dixie offers, for a tasty vegetable dish. I also like to add sliced mushrooms to green beans.

As for the zucchini and yellow squash featured at both National and Jitney Jungle, I like to steam them together briefly with a lemon slice or so, and bits of green onions, and the merest suggestion of butter or margarine, along with seasonings; and I always set some aside for salad, also, or for munching as appetizers with a zesty dip of some sort.

I really don't like to mask the fresh taste with too many sauces or toppings, I save that for times when I can't get the fresh and use frozen or at times canned, instead. That's when I use the cream or cheese sauces and combinations, for the most part.

Fresh mushrooms are among my favorite foods in this world. I think; in fact, I can happily make a meal from rice topped with mushrooms briefly sauteed in butter or margarine, with generous splashes of white wine - I don't even miss the meat or whatever! Along with a salad of mixed greens tossed with olive oil and vinegar, accompanied by hot French bread!

I also like to add mushrooms to chicken dishes, or as a topping for broiled steak or hamburgers, there are so many ways! And, I also enjoy.

MARINATED

MUSHROOM SALAD

1 lb. fresh mushrooms
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup olive oil
1/2 tsp. pepper
Salt as desired
3 or 4 Tblsp. Parmesan cheese

Romaine or other lettuce as needed

Remove the stems from the mushrooms, and set aside for other use. Wipe the caps with a damp cloth and pat dry before you cut them into rather thin slices. Whisk together the oil and vinegar and seasonings, blending well.

Marinate the mushrooms in the dressing for an hour or more at least, then toss with shredded lettuce. (Four to six servings). I also like to add thin strips of bell (green) pepper and pimiento and celery to the mushrooms, and marinate all together, to serve with cocktail picks as an appetizer.

With some of the catfish fillets from Winn-Dixie I cooked up a delicious dish from The Art of Seasoning Seafood cookbooklet from the McIlhenny Company of Louisiana, and then I cooked up a variation on the theme for a friend who's under a "fat and cholesterol watch" as she expressed it. You may use fish of your choice, such as flounder or haddock and such. The recipe, of course, calls for the company's famed Tabasco sauce. Here's:

FILLETS BAKED IN SOUR CREAM

2 lbs. fish fillets
4 tsp. butter or, margarine, divided

1 tsp. salt, optional
1/2 tsp. Tabasco
1 Tblsp. paprika
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

1 cup (8 oz.) sour cream
1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs
Grease a 2-quart baking dish with a teaspoon of the butter. Arrange the fish in the baking dish. Blend the salt, Tabasco, paprika and Parmesan cheese into the sour cream, and spread over the fish. Top with bread crumbs and dot with the remaining three teaspoons of butter.

Bake, uncovered, in a 350-degree oven for 20 minutes until the fish is easily flaked with a fork. Serve with lemon slices, if desired. (1 doz.) (Four to six servings).

I also cooked this dish with low-fat sour cream and again with plain low fat yogurt, as my friend had asked, and found both substitutions tasty - and so healthful.

With the special buys on rib half or loin half of pork loin, sliced, at Delchamps, you can cook up a variety of meals, according to your needs and the size of your family.

For a tasty example, try:

SPANISH OLIVE PORK CHOP CASSEROLE

4 loin chops, 3/4-inch thick
2 Tblsp. oil
1/2 cup onions, finely chopped
1 cup raw rice
2 cups chicken stock or broth or bouillon
1/3 cup pimiento-stuffed olives, sliced
Pepper, salt to taste.

Lightly brown chops on both sides in preheated oil. Remove, and lightly brown onion, then combine remaining ingredients with the onion and place in a 13x9x2 pan. Top with chops and bake, covered, at 350 degrees for an hour, or until the chops and rice are tender. (Four servings) - from Pirate's Pantry cookbook, of the Junior League of Lake Charles, La.

And, here's another easy and good recipe from the same cookbook. Here's:

PORK CHOPS IN RED WINE

4 large loin chops
Pepper, salt, paprika
1 Tblsp. butter
6 green onions, finely chopped (white and green parts)
1 cup dry red wine
Basil, thyme

Trim the fat from the chops, and sprinkle with salt, pepper, and paprika, and place in an iron skillet sizzling with butter. Fry quickly on both sides until brown.

Place in a casserole, sprinkle with onions and add the wine. Sprinkle with basil and thyme, and cook, covered, at 350 degrees for 30 minutes, adding more wine if necessary. Serve with rice. (Four servings).

P.S. The long grain rice is specially priced at Winn Dixie and National, so stock up.

American Legion Post 139 offers college scholarships

American Legion Post 139 is again offering their annual scholarship programs. Post 139 will offer three scholarships to Pearl River Community College and one scholarship to the University of Southern Mississippi.

Applications are available through Eddie Murtagh. Applications must be forwarded to the designated schools no later than March 15, 1990.

Selections will be made by the selection committees at USM and PRCC based on need and academic requirements. Relatives of members of Post 139 will be given preference.

Great Books club to present first meeting

The Great Books Reading and Discussion groups have scheduled meetings for the month of March. The first reading will be "Rothschild's Fiddle" by Anton Chekhov.

The Bay St. Louis group will meet at the Public Library on Highway 90 at 7 p.m. on Thursdays: March 15 and again on March 29. The Diamondhead group will meet on Mondays, first on March 12 and again on March 24, also at 7 p.m., in the Community Center's West Wing.

The Great Books Program is based on the idea that by reading from the great books of our civilization and discussing them with other people - sharing your insights and questions - you can reach a fuller understanding of these works than you could on your own. The only requirements for joining a Great Books discussion group are curiosity and a willingness to work with others toward an understanding and appreciation of the readings.

Interested persons may join the group at any time by attending the meetings, preferably after reading the work to be discussed. Further information can be obtained from the coordinators, Gigi Raymond 255-2855, Richard McCollough 467-6333 or from the Bay St. Louis branch of the Hancock County System, 467-5282.
